Have you ever had an idea?

Engineering and Entrepreneurship – The Quality of your Life Experience

Have you ever had an idea? You know the one, when you just wish that you had the ability and knowledge to put it into practice. Maybe it was for a new product, innovative design or concept. Maybe it was for a new business filling one of those niches that no-one thought of, or maybe you've wanted to take the plunge to start out on your own.

John Parry MBE, chairman of JPM Parry & Associates Ltd, formed his Cradley Heath company 30 years ago. Since then he has found himself working in more than fifty countries in the developing world alone and Parry technology has led to the creation of more than 25,000 livelihoods. He has also founded Parry People Movers Ltd to develop transport in the same way that the original business has developed construction. This lecture is a must for anyone interested in:

- Entrepreneurship
- Sustainable Development
- Having a successful and satisfying career
- Making a positive contribution to the World!

LOCATION: Aston University, Main Building, Room 155

DATE: Tuesday 26th October

TIME: 19.00 for lecture at 19.30
